CREDIT EDUCATION RESOURCES FOUNDATION

GRANT PROGRAM

As funds come available, the Credit Education Resources may provide grants to help carry out our main purpose of educating the general public in the wise use of credit. Grant applications will be considered for projects focused on educating consumers, from elementary school students to older adults, on how to manage money. Grant applicants may create their own program and materials or use programs and materials from other sources, such as the federal government.

A five (5) member Credit Education Resources Foundation Grant Committee has been formed to review all grant applications. The Grant Committee will be responsible for approving or declining any grant requests and deciding the amount of the grant that is awarded.

The grants may be requested by any member or local association that is in good standing with the Credit Professionals Incorporated (CPI).
