Makes the Difference

Benefits of CPI Membership

Gain the Competitive Edge

CPI members keep abreast of new developments in their fields and sharpen their skills through education programs at national, district and local levels; webinars; and three education-focused publications: The Credit Professional annual magazine, the annual CPI Education Manual, and The Credit Connection quarterly newsletter.

Build Leadership Potential

CPI members develop leadership skills by holding appointed and elective offices at local, state, district and national levels; presenting continuing education programs to colleagues; and conducting financial literacy programs in their communities.

Benefit from Networking

CPI members connect with one another by attending conferences and other meetings, working together on projects, participating in webinars and communicating via social media.

More Benefits of CPI Membership

Advance Your Career

CPI encourages its members to pursue professional credit certification through its certification program, which verifies a person's undergraduate and graduate education, work experience, continuing education efforts, published works, speaking engagements, and involvement in professional organizations. There are four levels of certification, recognizing members at different stages of their careers.
